J. Levine
BELLEVUE AND ALLIED HOSPITALS
~~OFFICE, GENERAL MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT~~ O.P.D.
FIRST AVENUE AND 26TH STREET
NEW YORK

NEW YORK
SEP 6
6 PM
1917
N.Y.
5

U.S. POSTAGE
2 CENTS
C

J. M. Freedman,
c/o Post Quartermaster's office,
U. S. Marine Corp. Reserve,
Brooklyn Navy Yard,
N. Y.

Sept. 6, 17.

Ma Honey: _____

Do you remember I told you I was going out looking for a new job this morning? Well _____ - - - - - - - - - - !

I shall tell you all about it when I see you.

How do you feel to-day? Hope you haven't forgotten that I am angry at you? Yes!, I am!

Tell Rose I called up Ada to-day - and for Rose with the greatest of pleasure — and I sure do hope she will.

Did you begin to work at 8 to-day? My poor honey sure has a big and hard day — but don't you care —
(I am still angry at you.)

Poor little Freddie came back to the Hosp again to-day for another small operation in his ear. Poor kid. He promised she tells me that she will be working to-morrow night, but if Rose & I will come down to the Store in the evening, she will go with us to Buckhead when she is there. She will call me up to-morrow again, and tell Rose I will call her to-morrow from the dispensary, so as to find out what she would like to do. Ada said again that she think Buckhead will do that me that as soon as he is able to, he is coming down to help me in the dispensary.

I shall close with just a stingy tiny bit of love, – just barely enough to last until I see you – cause you know why – don't you?

Lovingly
Frances

Excuse, please, the appearance & writing as Bellevue is poor and steel pens are high